SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY WITH NEW NEIGHBOR

Park Grove, the luxurious residential towers planned for Coconut Grove by Terra Group and The Related Group, hosted Fashionably Conscious' first Collection Party of 2014. Now in its seventh year, Fashionably Conscious collects designer items from Miami's top philanthropists and fashionable VIPs for the charity's much-awaited September sale of these items to benefit a terrific cause. Designer items including Chanel, Prada, Valentino, Dolce & Gabbana and more were collected during the cocktail soiree in preparation for the haute sale to benefit Coconut Grove Cares and The Barnyard, a program that offers vital after-school services to 250 children in the West Grove community.

Social hosts of the evening Rima Otrakji and Christina Martin proudly gathered a who's who of local fashionistas and Miami notables including David Martín, President and co-founder of Terra Group, Fashionably Conscious host; Carlos Rosso, President of the Condo Division at The Related Group; Patrick Campbell, Vice President at The Related Group; Iva Kosovic, Fashionably Conscious chair; Annette López, Fashionably Conscious Chair; Rene Ruiz; Katharine Rubino; and Tony and Ximena Cho. Park Grove developers Jorge Pérez and Pedro and David Martín maintain strong ties to the Coconut Grove community and to Fashionably Conscious, with their spouses actively involved in the organization.
